

Dog Show Attraction for Fair Sex Society Night; Waterloo Wins Ouster Fight

SOCIETY NIGHT AT DOG SHOW

Owners of Canine Pets Are Out in Full Force.

JUDGING IS NEARLY COMPLETE

Interest in Winner of the Big Prize for the Best Dog of the Entire Show is Very Keen—Notes of the Show.

Society night at the first Omaha Bench show opened auspiciously and was decorated a brilliant affair all the way through. The show received the biggest crowd of the week last night, filling the slabs of the auditorium.

As a special feature for the society night at the show the management presented all the special prizes given by private parties for the best dogs of various breeds on that night.

The show was a pretty sight Friday evening. The dogs having been brushed to the look their prettiest, the floor newly spread with sawdust and each dog's cage having been put in the strictest order. The cats also were in readiness for the visit of the many admiring women, their quarters on the stage having been renovated completely in honor of the many lovers of the felines who visited the department.

Man Hunt Exhibitions. Demonstrating the abilities of their famous bloodhounds, Dr. J. B. Fulton of Beatrice, Neb., and William Laury of Fremont, Neb., held a man hunt in Omaha Friday afternoon, much to the edification of every small boy in the city and also a number of the older citizens. Walter Allen, an 18-year-old lad, acted the part of the hunted man.

Allen started from Jefferson park, ran along Sixteenth street to Douglas, up to Eighteenth street, over to Farnam, down Farnam to Fifteenth street, doubling a couple of times down to Fourteenth and back and then over to the Auditorium. Arriving there he hid in the farthest corner behind a pile of scenery.

Four hounds were used in the chase. Lady and Pops, belonging to Dr. Fulton, and Tawny Maud and Prince of Palace, belonging to Mr. Laury. Honors in this class were even, the contest being nearly competitive, all the dogs sticking to the trail closely.

Take Trail Quickly. The dogs started on the trail half an hour after the lad and after they got the scent started straight down Sixteenth street, where several hundred people had walked since Allen had been there. They never lost the trail once, and were never really puzzled by the turnings, even in the center of the city. At the Auditorium they went straight to the corner where Allen had hidden himself and bayed until he came out.

The dogs following the trail through the city attracted much attention, this being a strange sight to most Omahans. The crowds were for the most part very skeptical as to whether or not the dogs could find the lad, as they had been unable to run down the court house dynamites earlier in the day.

Regulars Take Game By Three Big Scores in Opening Contest

Youngsters Put Much Ginger in Their Work, But Are Defeated by Ten to Seven.

Regulars against the Youngsters furnished the first game of the 1911 season at the baseball park Thursday, the Regulars winning the contest by three scores to 7. The older heads were too much for the youngsters and the Regulars brought in a bunch of runs in the last innings by means of timely hits, squeeze plays, and other methods still new to the kids.

Both of the lines used pitchers promiscuously, and young and old, the Rourke twirlers felt hard, because they did not dare let themselves out and really deliver the ball. But the batting is still marred by the fact that the ball did not fly to the field so the pitchers escaped rather easily.

The Rourkes are beginning to show up as a real team by this time and the crowd of fans, that is out to watch the daily practice is intensely interested in the progress of both the youngsters and the old veterans. The old vets are popular and if they can come back in good shape to play they will be perhaps little more welcome than the speedy youngster who does not yet know the game.

A merry struggle is going on for the catcher's position. Johnny Goding is the one of his job, in fact Johnny is doing the work, but watching the other players behind the bat and warming up the pitcher. But Sam Agnew and Ed Jokers are neck and neck, running for the other job as catcher. Little brother Agnew is counted some player, but it is doubtful if he will stick in Omaha without another year's seasoning.

The lineup of the club game was as follows: Regulars—Pitchers, all of them; catcher, S. Agnew; 1b, Kane; 2b, G. Graham; 3b, Kneaves; rf, Schipke; lf, Pickering; cf, Schoenover; rf, Anderson. Youngsters—Pitchers, all; c, Jokers; 1b, T. Agnew; 2b, Farrell; 3b, Klink Clark; 4b, Ward; lf, Pickering; cf, Conroy; rf, Keeley.

WATERLOO CLUB WINS FIGHT

Arbitration Board Decides Three-I League Must Not Be Changed.

MEETING IS ORDERED AT ONCE. Decision Eliminates Quincy as Member of League—Schedule for 1911 Season Must Be Prepared Immediately.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 24.—The board of arbitration of the National Association of National Base Ball Leagues today decided that the Three-I league, officially the Illinois, Illinois and Iowa league, shall continue as owners of the Cleveland base ball club, as announced last season. The decision, as announced by Secretary John H. Farrell, eliminates Quincy, Ill., member of the league and sustains the contention of Waterloo, Ia., for membership. An immediate meeting of the league is ordered to prepare the schedule for the 1911 season.

The Three-I league has interested base ball circles a long time. The four club forming the southern part of the circuit favored breaking away, forming a new six-club league and taking in Quincy and Decatur. When this failed, four clubs, Waterloo and Quincy, Ill., and two from Waterloo, Ia., formed the Waterloo club. The clubs forming the northern part of the old circuit also announced a plan to break away from the others, intending to form another six-club league by taking in Cedar Rapids and Clinton.

Some of the clubs provided for Waterloo, Ia., and that club made an energetic protest to the board of arbitration and urged the matter to the Illinois courts, where it was held the club was illegally ousted.

Agree with Court. "We concur in the finding of the court," says the board's decision. "The court is against an injunction and restraining order against the defendants by which each and every one of them is enjoined from forfeiting the Waterloo membership or taking any steps toward playing or carrying out a schedule without giving Waterloo its full quota of games and further, the Quincy, Ill. club is restrained from participating in any way in Three-I league affairs as a member of said league or as a member of the split" of games on the national holiday of January 25, 1911. Under this order of the court Quincy must be eliminated from any proposed reorganization of the league for the 1911 playing season.

The controversy has large financial interests and property rights in park plants and players' services, which demand protection, and with the playing season close at hand, the national board further rules and directs that the original eight clubs of the 1910 Three-I league meet not later than April 10, 1911, and prepare a regular playing schedule to include the original eight clubs in the understanding that a readjustment of the territory may be applied for at the close of the 1911 playing season by either side naming to the national board in writing on or before November 1, 1911.

GRAND CIRCUS RACING DOOMED. Andy Welch Says Something Must Be Done Quick. BOSTON, March 24.—Grand circuit racing over the eastern tracks, including Readville, Hartford, Buffalo and Syracuse, seems to be a thing of the past, according to a statement issued today by Andy Welch, owner of the Readville track and controller of the Eastern Circuit.

Welch, until now an optimist in regard to the future of racing in the east, in the face of most discouraging conditions, after a trip through the west declares that he is fully convinced that unless something is done quickly racing in the east is doomed.

With Columbus opposing the eastern tracks and the western courses permitting speculation, Welch declares it will be difficult to secure the entry of high class horses for the east.

STANLEY ROBISON IS DEAD

Owner of St. Louis National Team Dies After Being Ill Year.

DEATH DUE TO BLOOD POISONING. He Was Fifty-Three Years Old and Had Been Identified with Professional Base Ball for Eleven Years.

CLEVELAND, O., March 24.—After a year's illness from blood poisoning Stanley Robison, owner of the St. Louis National league base ball club and formerly a Cleveland base ball and street car magnate, died here today at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank de Haas Robison.

Mr. Robison came to Cleveland Sunday. He had spent the winter in Panama in hopes of recovering his health. Prior to that he had spent several weeks in a Chicago hospital. He had been under the care of numerous physicians and arrived here very dependent.

Notwithstanding his condition his death was a surprise. Mr. Robison usually passed the winter at the Cleveland home of his brother, Frank de Haas Robison. The latter died two years ago.

Mr. Robison is survived by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Britton of this city. ST. LOUIS, March 24.—Stanley Robison first became identified with base ball in St. Louis in 1898. He and his brother, Frank de Haas Robison, owners of the National league base ball club of Cleveland, transferred their club and franchise to St. Louis. The two brothers continued to own and operate the club until 1908, when Frank de Haas Robison died.

Since then Stanley Robison has been the principal owner. The Robisons bought the Cleveland club in 1889 and developed one of the greatest teams ever played in the National league. In 1896 and 1898 the Cleveland team played Baltimore for the Temple cup.

Robison was here a week ago last Thursday and departed a week ago today. He was ill then and remained in his hotel. He was 53 years old and was born in Dubuque, Ia. He was one of three brothers and the last of them to die.

Herman D. Seekamp, treasurer of the club, said today that the spring series between the American league and National league teams in St. Louis will be played as scheduled. He said the funeral probably will be held Monday, on which day no game is scheduled, and that he and Manager Roger Bresnahan will go to Cleveland after Sunday's game. The spring series will start tomorrow.

Native of Iowa. Stanley Robison was born at Dubuque, Ia., in 1837 and lived there until 1880, with the exception of four years spent in Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., from which he was graduated in 1879. He was educated as a civil engineer. While in college he was noted as an athlete, playing sports on a base ball team.

In 1880 Mr. Robison and Frank de Haas Robison came to Cleveland and in partnership with Charles Hathaway built the Superior and Payne avenue street car lines. Later they sold out to the Consolidated company, operated by the late Marcus A. Hanna, and embarked in the base ball business as owners of the Cleveland base ball club. When the National league changed from a twelve-club to an eight-club circuit in 1899 the brothers transferred their club to St. Louis. Burial probably will be here.

Tribute of President Lynch. NEW YORK, March 24.—The death of Stanley Robison takes from the National pastime one of its prominent figures," said President Lynch of the National league today, when told that the owner of the St. Louis National had passed away.

"Stanley Robison was a true sportsman and ever had the interests of his club and the National league at heart," said President Lynch.

STAR FIVE BEATS HAWKEYES. Fast Team of Church Boys Beats the Lads from Council Bluffs, Thirty-One to Twenty.

The Star Five won a decided victory Thursday night at the Walnut Hill gymnasium from the Council Bluffs Hawkeyes by a score of 31 to 20. Williams and Ellis piled up twenty-four of the thirty-one for the Stars, Williams making fifteen and Ellis nine, while other scattering throws helped it along. The superior work of guarding done by the Stars kept the Hawkeyes from running up their score, although Phency and Gertsen did some exceptionally good work in the throwing line. The ball was in Omaha territory the greater part of the time, owing to the Stars' center jumping. The lineup and score:

Position. Hawkeyes. Adams-Ellis..... R. F..... Gertsen Gagnabin..... L. F..... Olsen (Capt.) Williams..... R. C..... Petersen-Jensen Evans-Dutcher..... R. C..... Adams, I. Thomas, I. Former Iowan Wins Amateur Trap Shoot Contest in New York

Harry W. Kahler, Now of Philadelphia, Takes Honors From Field of Hundred and Twenty.

NEW YORK, March 24.—In freezing weather, with a half gale blowing from the northwest across the traps Harry W. Kahler, formerly of Davenport, Ia., but now a resident of Philadelphia, won the national amateur trap shooting championship at clay birds from a field of 120 shooters at Travers Island today.

Kahler, who is 25 years old, shot like a veteran and broke 173 out of 200 targets thrown from expert traps at a sixteen-yard rise. By doing so he won the diamond medal and the championship title, which has been held for the last two years by his clubmate, C. R. McCarthy, of the Highland Gun club, Philadelphia, who was runner-up today with a score of 171. Eight other prizes were awarded as follows for the next best scores:

Among the professionals who took part in the day's shooting, J. S. Gorman of Wilmington, Del., was the leader with 182. J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City broke 175, H. S. Welles of New York was a close third with 174 and G. L. Lyon of Durham, N. C., followed with 173 breaks out of 200 targets under the same conditions which governed the amateur competition.

SCHOOL BOY UNABLE TO GET LESSONS TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Fifteen-Year-Old Lad Cannot Get Along in Studies in Spite of Hard Work.

CHICAGO, March 24.—Tired of trying to learn lessons that would not stay in his head, William Shiel, the 15-year-old son of a Lake Forest contractor, today killed himself with a revolver, a gift from his father. The boy, although diligent, was backward in school and had dropped behind others of his own age. Today he played "hooky" for the first time and when the unexpected absence caused a search his body was found.

He left a note for his father saying: "I couldn't get along at school. I tried my best and I could not learn. The other boys and girls did their lessons, but they were too much for me. Don't blame teacher."
